Award from MacGregor Plumbing

It was no April Fools' Day joke when Eva Prell called Executive Director Jane Millar on April 1 to let her know that Northern Community Mediation (NCM) was the March recipient of $500 from MacGregor Plumbing, Heating & Air Conditioning. NCM received this generous donation following individual's having a month to vote on a daily basis for the organization of their choice.

Millar could not say "thank you" enough in response to the phone call. As Millar stated, "The staff and volunteers of NCM are in a celebratory state of mind over this news. As a non-profit organization, $500 is a significant amount of money for us."

When board member Izabela Babinska and Millar went over to MacGregor Plumbing, Heating & Air Conditioning to receive the check for $500, not only did they have an opportunity personally to thank President Julie Wieman, they also were able to discuss the importance and generosity of companies that support the non-profit world and individuals in need.

Northern Community Mediation is a non-profit organization that provides an alternative means of resolving conflict. Trained mediators, who meet with the parties involved in a dispute, facilitate so that the individuals themselves can resolve the conflict
